

The Spartan Directive

"As a sovereign country, the United States of America, must protect its borders and its citizens. For those who would violate either one, beware of America's power, its might and its will." – CS Bennett

This riveting story begins with a crack American Task Force that is sent into harm's way to bring death to Islamic terrorists who have threatened not only the United States, but the life of the leader of the free world, the President of the United States. This is about two lethal forces who hate and despise each other to the core. Nowhere is this hatred more expressed than on the battlefield where they encounter each other in a deadly fight to the finish. This is a mission that cannot be aborted. Complicating matters, Iran and North Korea decide it's time to team up and take on the United States. This dangerous crisis presents a new challenge for the American forces. Already tasked with locating, and destroying, Islamic jihadists before they can do the unthinkable... assassinate an American president, they must now turn their focus on North Korea and Iran. This is a novel that will have you wanting more, and it delivers. During this epic battle, America's might is put on full display for all the world to see, and serves as a reminder to its enemies, why it is not in their best interest to inflict, or visit harm upon us. Do so, and we are coming after you...

The Author

A world traveler, this author is a decorated war veteran (Desert Shield/Desert Storm - United States Navy) and has served onboard the nuclear aircraft carrier USS Nimitz and the conventional aircraft carrier USS Saratoga. Author has degrees in Social Science from Bethel College (now Bethel University), a Criminal Justice from the University of North Florida and Political Science/Public Administration from the University of North Florida (Magna Cum Laude). Author hails from Philadelphia, Pa. and currently resides in Interlachen, Florida. Author's hobbies are swimming, writing, music, cooking, traveling, and the martial arts.

US $16.00